DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

2. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hagiwara et al. (US 4,775,585) in view of Valyi (US 5,939,153), and further in view of Ando et al. (US 5,064,599) for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 4 of non-final office action of February 16, 2006.

Art Unit: 1713

Applicant's arguments filed April 24, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that Hagiwara et al., Valyi and Ando et al. are not related to each other based on their material composition. However, applicants fail to recognize that the motivation to combine the teachings of Hagiwara et al., Valyi and Ando et al. are not based on their material composition. Instead, the motivation to combine their teachings is that Hagiwara et al. (col. 9, line 49-54) clearly disclose that the disclosed process is suitable for making containers. Since plastic containers are typically prepared by a thermoforming process as indicated in Valyi (abstract; Figure 1-5), motivated by the expectation of success of preparing a container containing inorganic biocidal agent, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in art to recognize the value of thermoforming a process of choice for making a container or a bottle as taught in Valyi to obtain the invention of claims 1-19.

Further, in view of the substantially identical composition disclosed in Hagiwara et al. and the composition as claimed, the examiner has a reasonable basis to believe that the claimed "shaped article has improved biocidal activity compared to the unshaped article" is inherently possessed in Hagiwara et al. Although applicants disagree with the inherency that the examiner set forth, applicants must recognize that Ando et al. (abstract) clearly indicate that upon heating, the low melting component of the resins spreads to cause more zeolite particles to be exposed, which yields higher antibacterial activity on the substrate. Therefore, regarding applicants' argument that applicants' specification contain "unexpected results" to show the criticality of thermoforming, the examiner has a reasonable basis to believe that applicants' "unexpected results" are actually expected, especially to one of specially skill in the art.

Conclusion

3. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
